Theatre of War 2: Kursk 1943 is a computer game in the genre of combat strategy, the history of World War II game. T.A.W. 2 is inspired by the module «German Commander» of the series "Theatre of War", but it is developed on a completely new platform. On this basis it has been possible to completely improve the gameplay, graphical and sound aspects, expanding the amount of actual historical content. Theatre of War 2: Kursk 1943 is a game that allows you to develop and execute tactical operations directly under the guidance of a division or army commander. All of the units are modeled as a unique individual, so it is possible to be in command of the battle group, which consists of dozens of infantry squads, tanks or artillery batteries, along with all the necessary logistical support. The system of level of movement allows the precise representation of the actual movement of the units. The road system of the game allows a fast and accurate simulation of the movement of the units. The map of the game is also in 3D, and with the aid of detailed 3D maps it is possible to represent all the changes and situations of the battle in a truly realistic way. For the user interface in the game, a completely new approach was chosen. With the aid of one of the most advanced tactical interfaces it is possible to, in a few mouse clicks, quickly plan and execute battle actions. The programme includes various game mechanisms for the development of the game play, and also allows a rapid development of the missions. Games at a Glance Evolving Alpha 3 is a free game that is playable online or offline. The gameplay is real-time and requires decisions to be made at key moments during the game. A choice is made at the end of each round based on the way it affected how the game played out. Using the gaming mechanics for each round, players will have to make the best choice at each round to win the game. Evolving Alpha 3 does not contain any in-game advertising, or any type of in-game purchases. This real-time game is playable online. Games at a Glance Dangerous Waters (Dangerous Water) is a strategy game created by Kevin Valk in 2011. The game can be played online, or by multiple players offline. The game has a story-based approach to gameplay that allows the player to play through the story while making strategic decisions

Rat brain glycogen synthase is two-subunit enzyme and is 50.9-inactivated by a Ca<sup>2+</sup>-dependent mechanism. This study was undertaken to determine the molecular basis for Ca(2+)-dependent 50.9 inactivation of rat brain glycogen synthase. We expressed the recently cloned rat brain glycogen synthase alpha (GSA) subunit protein as a histidine-tagged fusion protein (His-GSA) in Escherichia coli. We isolated GSA from crude bacterial extracts and determined its messenger RNA profile using primer extension. N-terminal amino acid sequencing showed that His-GSA protein was identical in sequence to GSA which has been previously sequenced. The in vitro S0.9 inactivation of His-GSA was dependent on Ca(2+) and tetrameric enzyme levels decreased 10-fold when assay conditions were varied from 4 to 1 mM MgATP. Anti-(His-GSA) polyclonal antibodies recognized both monomer and tetramer His-GSA and did not modify the S0.9 inactivation. S0.9 inactivation of His-GSA was identical to that of native glycogen synthase (GS) with respect to pattern and kinetics of inactivation. However, S0.9 inactivation by preincubation with His-G

Springfield man Jessica Pauly gets calls from police about Frank Pelossi Jr. The 48-year-old is in medical care, should he ever be found. He's a thief. But until now, he's never been arrested.
This time, officer Todd Deveau of the River Correctional Center in St. Peter, did just that, lodging a warrant for two counts of burglary. Pauly says for the past two months, he's been getting calls and visits from a struggling former stock trader, and his maintenance man, both of whom share one of his homes on Gammon Hill Road. "It doesn't matter that they get this house clean and get their refrigerator fixed, they'll come back in here and bust everything up again," Pauly said. NewsChannel 5 visited the home in July when police and the Department of Human Services were looking for Frank Pelossi Jr. A week later, the house had been cleaned. But when the Springfield couple went back, it was anything but a welcoming place. "It's broken, it's messed up, it's infected and we're having a hard time getting it clean," Pauly said. "I know they're clean because they've been
